VOICE OF PUBLIC
WILL DEMAND END OF BOTH STRIKES

—and both labor and operators respectively are being urged from within to make a settlement. But when the president of the United States takes the initiative again he is expected this time to get committed from both operators and miners. There were many unfortunate phases to the last effort at peace which emanated from the operators' House. For one thing the operators wanted more time to light—they believed if the government would furnish troops to protect strike-breakers the non-union production would soon reach a point where it would be no longer necessary to submit to the union leaders' terms. They were confident that later on they would get better terms of settlement.

Not Mining Enough Coal
The war of exhaustion has gone on two weeks since Mr. Harding proposed arbitration. Pictures just issued by the United States geological survey show that the non-union production since the operators were invited to resume operations has not been sufficient to warrant the nation in feeling comfortable about fuel supply next winter. The figures are by no means satisfactory to the administration. They might be to the operators of a gradual increase in production. The operators blame the strike and say that if the coal is not produced for coal isn't mined when cars are not available on which to load. But government information contradicts that assertion. Enough coal hasn't been mined and not enough men are at work to insure an adequate supply.

Further Conference Sure
In the face of these facts, the government will try again to mediate in the dispute. Further conferences between the heads of operators and unions are inevitable the end of this week. There is a feeling of utmost confidence that this time a new compromise can be launched that will be accepted. It would have required very little modification of fundamentals to have brought a settlement the last time the coal disintegrants were here. That modification did not come as the pressure of public opinion through the president was not quite so acute.

Industrial peace may be said to be in sight now. The situation in the coal industry is such that a settlement can not be rejected by either side. President Harding has made the railroad executives see the importance of the public welfare over abstract issues in unionism and the same may be predicted for the coal operators and miners spokesmen.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor, Gazette:
What are you going to do about it?

The school for the blind has been in Janesville since it was established in 1850. For the past 72 years Janesville has been reaping the benefit of this school. That the school is a benefit to the city is obvious. If further evidence is needed, just recall the vigorous fight Janesville made in 1875 when the building burned, and there was quite an agitation to move the school to Madison.

The benefit to the city, especially the merchants, grows as the school grows larger. The summer school with an attendance of about 60, swells the business of the city. The proverb says, "It is a poor rule that will not work both ways." Therefore, if the school is a benefit to the city, the city should be a benefit to the school.

There are refuse boxes, barrels, signs, boxes, baby carriages, three or four people standing on the walk, talking, posts, and steps and into the walk, which need not and should not be there—every conceivable obstruction. There is absolutely no protection for blind people crossing the street. This dumping pit south of the river has no protection.

Perhaps seeing people do not notice these things, I am not complaining nor finding fault, but I would kindly ask the citizens of Janesville:

What are you going to do about it?
C. J. WINKLEMAN.

CITY ENJOYING DEAL SUMMER

Moderately Warm Days, Cool Nights, Continue Here.

Despite occasional hot or cool spells of seldom more than a day's duration, Janesville is enjoying an ideal summer. Starting early in May, the temperature warmed up to summer heat, where it has remained, almost unvaried, until now. Pours of a drought which were held by some during June, unusually late in the month and early in July when copious rains fell. Lighter rains off and on since that time have kept the vegetation green and flowers blooming well. Farmers who planted late during June are now satisfied with the present dryer weather, excellent for corn.

Evenings and nights have been unusually pleasant for midsummer. There have been only a few hot nights and the early mornings, before the heat of the day has come, have been refreshing.

Average temperature for the month of June was higher than that for July. The average of temperature readings from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. for the first month was 75, while for July it was 76. This is due to the fact that several times during June the mercury passed 80 degrees. A low mark of 58 degrees was made during June for the hours mentioned. This was on the first day, Tuesday, July 1. The day did not make such a wide range.

Thus, with the greatest abundance of fruits and vegetables in years, and temperature nearing perfection, this summer is a contrast to the terrific heat of June and July, 1931.

"SOCIALISTS BACK BLAINE"—BAKER

Declares LaFollette-Blaine Ticket Is Socialism in Disguise.

Wisconsin Rapids.—That the Blaine-LaFollette or LaFollette-Blaine ticket is socialism in disguise was declared here Monday night by John P. Baker, for the last six years the assistant attorney general and the republican ticket as an independent progressive.

"There are two factions in the republican party today," declared Mr. Baker. "Not the factions of 10 years ago nor of five years ago, but a new alignment—the progressives headed by LaFollette and the reactionaries headed by John P. Blaine for governor."

"The charge has been made that the Blaine ticket is socialism in disguise. To this charge John Blaine pleaded not guilty in a recent speech when he said he was not radical. I refer the question to you, the voters of the state as jurors, upon the evidence in the record."

"One wing or faction of the republican party is for socialism. Here is the evidence to prove this assertion."

John P. Blaine, Governor: Two years ago he said he stood on the platform of the non-partisan league with both feet.

John P. Blaine, leader of the non-partisan league official organ, said in substance: "I would not give two cents for the league if it were not headed for socialism."

"Lieutenant Governor George F. Comings: In an address to the Wisconsin State Association in Chicago, said, according to the Milwaukee Journal of Nov. 22, 1931: 'We never can develop a Christian civilization until we abandon a system based on private property. The Milwaukee socialist convention recently a motion was made to endorse Comings because he is radical of them all.'"

"Mr. Baker said Senator LaFollette has been practically endorsed for reelection by the socialists of the state because, through the efforts of Victor Berger, they have placed no one in nomination to oppose him at the polls."

County Red Cross to Meet, Friday

A joint meeting of the Janesville and other branches of the Rock County chapter, American Red Cross, will be held at the chapter office, at 4 p. m. Friday for the purpose of discussing the continuance of the organization and to form plans for the sixth Red Cross roll call, which begins Nov. 12, 1932, Armistice day, and continues until Thanksgiving day. All branch officers and representatives on the executive board of directors are urged to be present.

Read every energy to finish the high school building so it may be used before the end of 1922. With the completion, the problem of a community center will be solved.

Janesville needs and should have ample hotel facilities to care for the public. That will be especially true when the high school is completed and the auditorium is available for the largest conventions.

Finish the paving of Janesville streets as soon as there can be the necessary readjustments in taxation so as not to place a burden on the taxpayer.

Give the city a park. There is now available $10,000 for this purpose and it should not be used for any other. Finish the city and state parks.

Memorial Building for World War soldiers, the living and the dead—to be also an historical building.

THE SMILE OF THE YEAR

Not for the week but the whole 365 days of the year should the smile appear. That does not mean that one should go about with a smirk or a facial distortion. "Smile and be a villain still," is still a good statement of a possible fact. Some of our best and most loved villains on the stage can boast Doug Fairbanks at smiling. The real smile is that of the 365 day man who can help along any good project and be cheerful under circumstances that might make another buy a cheap clothes line and seek a convenient hanging place. As the little girl said, the smile of the right sort fills the whole inside of you. It makes one glad to have the few years on this earth that belong to him under the regular order of things, glad there are as many people in the world as there are, and hope everybody will be just as well off as he. Anybody with a small knowledge of navigation can sail a ship in fair weather and a great and prosperous business will carry its own self for a time with an organization used to that condition, but it does take the real stuff when there is storm and stress and the device to pay generally. That is the test of the smile, "inside of you."

We have had about every kind of a week one might think of from Smile week to Cut-the-Outs week. But the value of the smile and the other weeks, is in keeping the gail up for 51 more weeks in the year.

They call him "Hearst's Hiram" in California but here it's "Bergers' Bob."

THE KU KLUX AND THE CONSTITUTION

The Ku Klux Klan victory in Texas is the victory of an unwholesome development in politics. No movement of this kind has ever existed. One of the guarantees of the Bill of Rights in the constitution and the very first is that of worshiping God according to the dictates of one's conscience without interference by the state in any way. No established religion can be provided under that constitution and no man may be compelled to join any church. This religious freedom is denied in implication by the Ku Klux and other organizations now springing up. We have had several such waves in the United States and they have failed eventually and passed away because we finally, in the last analysis, cannot tolerate an extra-legal or extra-state administration.

There is one established government provided by the Federal and state constitutions. That ought to be enough for the average citizen and doubtless is. There are ample guarantees under these documents based on the work of the national constitutional convention back in 1787. To attempt to nullify that constitution is to be as bad as Calhoun and Hayne in their assault on the constitution back in 1850—an act that led to the civil war. The sooner it is recognized that rights are inherent and entrenched under that document the sooner will we depart from the byways of bigotry.

Many an autocrat is discovering that it is better to look at the rear of the caboose going down the track than into the face of the locomotive coming up the track.

A HARD YEAR FOR WILSONITES.

The defeat of Senator Culberson in Texas has been a hard blow to the followers of Woodrow Wilson. Now it Reed should be nominated out of Missouri the blow would be complete. Mr. Reed has taken a new tack lately and said that he did not fight President Wilson. However, the friends of the former president think he did and that goes far enough to place him in the list of Wilson enemies.

Senator Culberson, on the other hand, was one of the most persistent supporters of all the Wilson policies. He is not an orator, but he has been continuously in his seat and during the debate on the League of Nations he voted for the League on every rollcall.

But his support of Wilson was not enough in the opinion of the Texas Democrats to justify keeping him in the Senate. Two other candidates polled more votes than he in the primary, so that he will not be in the running when the two high men in the poll contest for the nomination in an early primary on August 26.

It is quite necessary if we are to enjoy the band concerts, to have such adequate police protection as will permit those in attendance to hear the music and not be constantly annoyed by shrieks and laughter and noise from children who are apparently too far away from parental control.

According to a news report from Pulaski, Wis., that village is in the corner of Brown county and as its name would imply is the home of a large Polish population, loyal in war and strong

Remedy Sought for Labor Strife

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington—There are signs that the average citizen of the United States has grown more than a bit weary of the continual conflict between capital and labor and wants something done about it.

Here are a few of the high spots in industrial developments of the last five or six months that are arousing him to the necessity for action:

A coal strike that jeopardizes the interests and welfare of every man, woman and child in the country; a railroad strike that threatens to tie up or cripple the transportation industry that is as vital to the nation as the circulation system is to the human body; in New England, almost total paralysis of the textile industry; in West Virginia, scores of men have been on trial or under indictment for treason and murder as a result of the civil war that was the fruit of a conflict between union miners and anti-union operators—a conflict no nearer settlement now than it was when it was begun; in Chicago, hundreds of union officials and other labor leaders have been arrested for inciting or complicity in riotous and anarchistic demonstrations growing out of a controversy in the building trades; in various states and Federal courts the courts are cluttered up with injunction suits and actions for damages growing out of labor controversies of one kind or another; in Washington, the supreme court has said for a second time that a law of the congress aimed at the evil of child labor is unconstitutional and the president and his advisers have had fully two-thirds of their time taken up with various phases of the problem of how to restore industrial peace; and throughout the country, wherever workers come together, there are heard caustic complaints and criticisms, ominous mutterings and sinister threats.

Evidently there is something fundamentally wrong in the relations between capital and labor. Just what that something is may be debatable, but there is a substantial unanimity of opinion to the effect that the only remedy lies in the assertion of governmental authority in the public interest. This means regulation, which will be resisted both by labor leaders and by most representatives of capital in the employing relation.

There are those who urge that the initial step in this direction should be an anti-strike law—one "with teeth in it." The objection to such a law is that it cannot be enforced. As long as labor is free, men cannot be compelled to work against their will. Labor to be efficient and productive, must be free of coercion in any form, and the wise employer recognizes this and would not have workers in his plant who were not there of their own volition.

To the suggestion that the anti-strike law be made applicable to public utilities and basic industries and to employees in the public service the reply is made that such legislation would be class legislation of an especially objectionable kind. Inevitably it would tend to create either a favored class or an oppressed class of workers, and would drive either toward or away from such employment. Executives who grow grey over the problem of labor turnover and workers who are always looking for a "better job" will get the force of this objection.

But if strikes and lockouts are not to be made unlawful can they be made unnecessary and undesirable? Industrial experts answer this question in the affirmative. They say that it is only essential to create conditions under which both factors in the industrial equation are assured of a square deal and a fair deal, and the adjustment upon that basis of the differences which they cannot settle by and for themselves.

These experts advocate the establishment of an industrial code which defines the fundamental principles governing all relations in all industry. Every community, every industry, and every plant, presents problems that are peculiar to itself, but there are certain phases of the relations between employer and employee that are universal and basic and with respect to which there should be rules or principles that are basic and universally accepted and applied.

Workers either should or should not have the right to organize trade-unions, the right of collective bargaining, the right to a living wage, and the right to an eight-hour day or some restriction upon the hours of labor. Women in industry should or should not have the right to the same pay as men for the same or equivalent service. Employment of children under a certain age in mines and mills should or should not be permitted. The public should or should not be protected against interruptions in industry growing out of controversies between capital and labor.

Whatever is ethically, socially and economically just and wise with respect to each of these questions should be clearly defined and promulgated as the guiding law of industrial relations, and this organic law or code should be accepted and enforced as the basis of all employment and the adjustment of all differences.

If unions are useful and lawful, say the experts, then that fact should be established and universally recognized. A situation such as has prevailed in West Virginia, for example, is regarded as preposterous. There in certain coal fields the miners have had absolute freedom to join their union, while in other fields they are not only denied employment if they are union members but they dare not meet to consider organization of a local or even discuss the union question. Surely whatever rights in this respect are enjoyed by one of these groups of miners should not be denied the other. Furthermore, the fact that dissension over this question led to civil war in West Virginia is cited as proof that it would be for the best interest of everybody concerned to have this question of the right to organize settled, one way or the other, beyond all question.

Without such an industrial code, it is pointed out, arbitrations of labor disputes become mere reading affairs in which the better trader triumphs. It is all very well to say that arbitration means a settlement on the basis of what is sound and just, but what is the rule or yardstick with which to measure what is sound and just? Different arbitrators have different ideas. Confidence in courts is not based upon confidence in the integrity and wisdom of the judges but rather upon the fact that the judges are governed by an organic law, by precedents and by a procedure universal in its application.

Such in substance is the case that is being made for the establishment of an industrial code in these trying days of almost constant strife between capital and labor. President Harding himself advocated such a code.

In conflict—there was a meeting at which the senior senator spoke. The chairman, an attorney named Reynolds, from Green Bay said, "Mr. Morison may have told you Blaine was a dry. It's a lie!" It is a relief to have some one with authority say just how the governor does stand on that question.

Why should anyone be so ungenerous as to attempt to stir Governor Len Small with a little thing like the Herrin murders? It is doubtful whether Small recognizes that anything out of the ordinary has happened or that it was like the tariff with Gen Hancock, a local issue down there.

Worth comment is the fact that Wisconsin has a greater number of savings accounts in July 1922 than in July 1921. Next to Illinois this is the best in the seventh Federal reserve district and the increase is the largest in the district in percentage. This is cheerful news for the farmer.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

TOO FRIENDLY

He never caused a man to sneer.
Was never regarded as a peer.
Had never battled with a foe;
But through the years that come and go,
He smiled his easy way along
And played the friend to right or wrong.

He never ventured night or day
Out of the well-worn trodden way.
He never pried adventure's lid.
He never asked his father's aid.
He never argued with a foe,
But when an argument arose
He sided both with friends and foes.

He talked as one who loved the right,
But he was never known to fight.
Peering the hate of men, he stayed
Holding opinions both afraid
To give them voice in manly tense
His silence gave no man offense.

Pleasant his smile and meek his way.
The same tomorrow as today.
Living this life, the best and smart,
Yet shirking duty's sterner part;
A friend to all he walked along,
But friendly both to right and wrong.

Who never braves the cynic's sneer,
Nor wins the sinful braggart's cheer,
But seeks through life's long years to go
Free from the malice of a foe,
Buries his talents in the earth
With nothing done to prove his worth.

Better to fight and fall than stay
Upon life's side-lanes day by day;
Better the tears than smiles of those
Who should be looked upon as foes.
For friendship has no value when
It makes no choice with knaves and men.

TOO BAD.

The whole world is bound for perdition.
It is going hell-bent, that is sure.
It's really an awful condition.
To those who are righteous and pure.
A few of us will get to heaven.
And win the gold harp and the crown.
In a thousand, perhaps six or seven
Will travel straight up and not down.

Our best people play golf on Sunday.
Or motor a long way from home.
Some go to the movies on Monday.
Remember what happened to Rome.
The decay of a city is shown by the
They should be chased by the police.
For showing six inches of stocking.
Remember what happened to Greece.

We who are booked straight through to glory,
For living the lives that we should,
Will make more new laws than the story.
To force the depraved to be good.
The wave of reform is fast growing.
To save all the souls and the ladies.
For it will be dull, there were going.
If all the real folks go to races.

Brother Volstead will now bend his efforts to putting a curb on divorce, which will doubtless only lead to high-proof bootleg divorces which cost a lot more.

Who's Who Today

MRS. ARTHUR L. LIVERMORE

Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore has the distinction of being the only woman member of the commission representing the United States at the coming Brazilian exposition.

Mrs. Livermore sailed recently for Rio de Janeiro, where she will take up her duties as representative of America's good will toward the Latin republic.

Mrs. Livermore, whose husband is a widely known lawyer in New York city, has been active in politics for some time and achieved distinction as the only woman chosen to attend the late Republican national convention as an alternate.

It is said that she inherited from her father her taste for politics. She was the late Senator Charles F. Wells, for years state senator in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Livermore is a natural leader. She headed the Woman's National Republican club, was chairman of the women's state executive committee, founded the famous "Country School," and also founded the Woman's University club of New York.

She was appointed to her present post by President Harding last January.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

August 1, 1882—The council took action last night to protect the city from any disastrous fires. Any that are now any distance from the river cannot be handled, and as the men in the city have signed an agreement to establish a water works system here have left in disgust, reservoirs must be placed throughout the city for water for fires.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

August 1, 1892—A large number of merchants in the city have signed an agreement to close their stores at six o'clock on all nights except Wednesday and Saturday, when they are open until nine. This will be until Sept. 1, when they will close only on Tuesday and Friday nights. Many from this city spent Sunday at Lake Geneva and other nearby spots.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

August 1, 1902—A. C. Hough and Don Farnsworth of the Hough Shade corporation are now in the city looking over the sites for a factory here where they will manufacture porch shades. They want to locate at Janesville, near the lumber district. They will build a large plant if they settle here. Cincinnati is looking for the factory.

TEN YEARS AGO

August 1, 1912—Three men held up, robbed and beat up a fourth, their companion, this afternoon on the Park depot in an attempt to get his money. All have been captured. It is thought that one of them is wanted in New York for murder. They all came to the city this morning and had been around the depot all day. The man beaten up will recover.

Personal Health Service

ABNORMAL BEHAVIOR

A correspondent sends this communication:
Dear Doctor:
Will you kindly advise me regarding my husband.

He is so nervous and high strung that sometimes I fear he is insane. He sleeps little at night, because, he says, his mind is so crowded with thoughts that he can't sleep. But, doctor, if he can't sleep he won't let me sleep. He sighs about or keeps incessantly tapping the side of the bed sometimes for hours without interruption. He will lie with his head in his hand raised upon his elbow just watching me, and lately I am beginning to feel afraid of him. He says he is always depressed and has terrible thoughts, but he won't tell me what they are. Sometimes, he says, he thinks of killing himself.

He always imagines some one is trying to injure him or hurt his feelings in some way and no one in the world pleases him.

He is always watching me with his eyes squinted and a peculiar smile on his face, something quite unlike his old self. It makes me feel like screaming. He has nothing to make him worry. He ought to be happy. We have been married 18 years and until now our life has been a happy one together. We have two girls and a boy, 16, 13 and 10 years old, respectively. He is 44 years old. My people don't live in this country and I do not know where to turn for advice. I can't prevail upon him to visit the doctor. If he goes go into a doctor's office he won't wait, if the doctor won't see him immediately he walks out. He says he can't waste his life sitting in a doctor's office.

(Mrs. S. T. S.)

I print this communication not because it gives any typical symptoms of insanity, but because it illustrates a not uncommon predicament. What to do when a loved one or a dependent begins to behave in an abnormal way.

The correspondent in this case did right in trying to persuade her husband to consult his physician. Had the physician been apprised of the state in such a letter as the lady writes me perhaps he would have received the patient at once and out of his proper turn.

It is this woman's duty to her husband and herself and her children to summon the physician to the home, if the man will not go to the physician's office. If it is a question of insanity, then after a while the physician will be in a position to give advice about the proper procedure. If it is impossible to arrange a voluntary interview with the physician.

ASK US

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing the Gazette Information Bureau, 202-2nd St., Janesville, Wis.)

Q. I am a physician. I have a patient, a woman, who is suffering from a medical and financial matter. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, but to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Give full name and address. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.

Q. Why haven't railroad rates been reduced to offset the decrease in wages of railway workers?

A. W. F. Under the law, wages of railway workers are not fixed on the basis of the railroad's rates or revenues and the board which deals with wages is entirely separate from the interstate commerce commission which fixes rates. As a matter of fact, however, there have been rate reductions, effective July 1 last, which amount to some $400,000,000 annually, according to the estimate of experts.

Q. In playing golf can the ball be dropped out of casual water anywhere on the course without penalty?

A. J. P. A ball may be lifted from casual water through the fairway or on the green without penalty, but casual water in a bunker becomes a water hazard and must be played as such, with the loss of one stroke for lifting or dropping out.

Q. Should canned tongue be cooked before being used?

A. E. A. The Green's Encyclopedia says that tongues should never be put in a pan of water or of any meat or fish during warm weather without reminding the buyer that it should be cooked thoroughly before opening.

Q. When was the word sweetheart coined?

A. E. P. Wells, for years state senator in Massachusetts.

Q. The term sweetheart was originally written in the form of two words. It is found in literature as early as 1290, though there is no record showing by whom it was first used.

Q. When were the first banks established?

A. J. A. W. Activities similar to banking of the present day were known to the ancients. In Athens and Rome, goveral hundred years before Christ, there were men who would now be called bankers. The rise of modern banking really dates from the establishment of the Banco di Rialto, in Venice, 1587.

Q. Where was cotton first raised?

J. W. F. A. The country in which cotton was first used or produced has not been definitely determined. It was known in India before the conquest of that country by Alexander, and was used by the early Greeks and Romans, and Columbus found it in use by the natives of the new world.

Q. Is every state in the union divided into counties?

A. E. P. A. All the states have local districts known as counties except Louisiana, where the corresponding district is known as the parish.

Q. Which is correct—"Covent" or "Convent"?

A. E. P. A. Covent is the accepted spelling, but it is a corruption from Convent garden, originally the Garden of the Abbot of Westminster.

Q. If a lobster loses a leg will it grow a new one?

A. H. A. A. An antenna or leg is gradually renewed, growing at every molt. This is also true of the crayfish.

Q. Is the captain a member of the crew of a ship?

F. B. A. Crew is a collective name for all the persons employed on a ship, but is usually limited to designate petty officers and seamen only.

The Tattooed Arm

By Isabel Ostrander

What horrible and mysterious power was forcing the three Drake brothers to place themselves in such ridiculous situations? Some power had forced Robert to deliver a speech in the public square, Roger to burlesque a scientific address and Andrew to play with toys. The three appeared terror-stricken, and without their knowledge.

PATRICIA DRAKE, daughter of Hobart, secured OWEN MILLER, detective sergeant, and SCOTTIE GREGORY, to investigate. Miles is employed as a housekeeper and Scottie as a chauffeur. Following a series of mysterious events, Patricia suddenly disappears, an event which Miles cannot understand. Patricia and Miles were in each other's confidence. Possibly the attempt of her sister's aunt, MISS JERUSALEM DRAKE, to break up the affair.

RICHARD KEIMP, has been the cause. Miles is suddenly summoned by Hobart Drake.

Hobart's reply was a smothered cry and Miles and Scottie had only time to regain the shelter of the rear stairs when Miss Drake swept across the hall and to her own room. "So she knows," Scottie rubbed his chin. "I wish to be sure that we did, but it's no use. We'll find out nothing more this night."

Scottie was right. Nothing happened until the next morning when Zorn appeared in the garden and had the older man summon Miles.

"Where can we talk?" Zorn asked as Miles appeared.

"Just down the road here. I understand your message Sunday evening, of course. Did you trace the bill of lading?"

"No, sir," answered Miles as they strode along the road toward the weather-beaten shed.

"Yes," she said at Freddale, "at the home of a certain estimable but somewhat peevish old farmer named Higgins."

"Elphalest!" exclaimed Miles. "His sister Hittie has been a maid here in the household for a generation. I never thought of him! How did Miss Patricia happen to go there, and why?"

"Perhaps you had better read her letter first," Zorn glanced about the ramshackle shack and produced a small, bulging envelope.

Miles tore open the envelope and took from it two folded slips of paper.

"Dear Sergeant Miller:—

"Mr. Zorn has told me how he found me and why I stayed away. I have promised him I will come home this afternoon. I had to tell you first, though, that I have broken out a small, but very serious, skin disease. I am sending word to Mr. Keimp to meet me and I mean to tell

If a house is built to last 50

TUESDAY

Janesville Men Off to Play in State Golf Meet Tuesday

MILWAUKEE SCENE OF GREAT ANNUAL WISCONSIN BATTLE

Milwaukee.—The Yale cup team match was Tuesday's preliminary of the Wisconsin state golf tournament at the Milwaukee Country Club. The tournament proper opens officially Wednesday with what is expected to be 150 entries. Teams which had enrolled early for the Yale cup contest are:

Marion Bluff, Madison; Tusculum, Green Lake; Janesville Country Club, Washington Park; Racine, LaCrosse, Blue Mound, Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Mishwaukee, Racine and Kenosha.

With the probabilities that D. A. Matteson will compete under the colors of Janesville, the outlook for Janesville in the state golf tournament at Milwaukee is bright as play started Tuesday. Yale play is on Tuesday with the real battle to come on Wednesday.

Experts have not given much thought to Matteson this year. They state his play of last year when he ousted Dick Cavanaugh, picked to win, and then crumpled before Gordon Gilbert of Racine in the finals. It is not known whether Gilbert will play this year. There has been some question of his eligibility because of his having appeared in the Michigan state meet. But it is likely if he wants to compete, he will be allowed to do so. According to Chester Brewer, new head of physical training of the University of California, a former Janesville man, Gilbert is not likely to play. Brewer met him in Michigan recently.

Janesville will positively be represented by seven men. This is small compared to the 20 who took part at Kenosha last year. They are A. Schaller, George King, E. P. Wilcox, Burns, Brewer, Rex Jacobs, Ed Kemmerer and Arthur Granger.

Ned Allen of the Milwaukee Country club is given a long chance to win. He will be playing on his home course, a distinct advantage. Cavanaugh will also take part. He, too, is familiar with the course.

HORSE SHOE STAR

C. L. SMITH

"Farmer" Smith will give daily exhibitions at the Janesville fair, Aug. 8-11, of the art of making a horse shoe without a nail. He will also pitch the winner each day to illustrate his ability. Smith has the habit of making rings of 50 per cent of his throws. He will prove interesting to all players and fans.

Two Fast Games Booked for Picnic of Local Strikers

Two ball games will be part of the picnic at the picnic grounds of the Janesville strike organization at the tourist camp on North Washington and Magnolia streets Wednesday afternoon. Teams representing the St. Paul shops and the Northwestern shops will clash. Then there will be a stiff battle between the Black Cats and the Moose. There is enough rivalry between the two railroads to make the first game a real one. Both sides already are predicting a win.

When it comes to the Fussies and the Moose, there is a first class chance for a scrap. The Moose have been wanting to meet the Fussies all season. This will probably be the first game of what will develop into a series for the city amateur championship.

There will be a tug-of-war, running races and many novelty events as the other sports events of the day.

The Moose Black Cat game starts at 8:30 p. m. Lineups for the railroad teams: St. Paul—Streeter, c; H. Schlicker, p; J. Scanlon, p; J. Neave, 1b; S. Taylor, 2b; C. Churchill, 3b; H. Blek, ss; J. Bailey, lf; Walter, cf; J. Falter, rf; substitutes, E. Coughlin, W. Smith and J. B. Sullivan. Northwestern—A. Buchanan, 2b; C. Garbutt, ss; T. Dyer, 1b; L. Drummond, c; S. Haker, 3b; H. Richter, p; W. Harker, lf; J. Lawrence, rf; W. Wolf, cf; substitutes, G. Semarow, G. Strampe and G. Korban.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINGLIER.

HERE'S hoping that every school in the West will give Major Griffith the utmost support in his new job as commissioner of conference athletics. He has a great job before him—a big job. Give him time.

IT is regrettable that the conference did not give him full powers. He is somewhat weakened by having to wait upon the directors of the conference for final decision. Such a situation leaves things open to controversy, dissatisfaction and rows.

WISCONSIN is particularly interested in Major Griffith in that he is a graduate of Cornell college. He has a remarkable record behind him in college, in directing athletics in school circles and in the army during the war.

EVERYWHERE in the city courts for pitching horse shoes are springing up. The answer to the call to the tournament at Janesville fair is, "conspicuously spontaneous." Now let's have a great inpouring of entries. What say?

PORT ATKINSON put up a stiff battle against Watertown in the Jefferson county league Sunday. Each team got only 10 hits—not so bad—but a little bit of misfortune caused the Port boys to drop the game. The Watertown boys, for you, don't forget Jefferson while you are thinking of this loop. The Jells have put up a great battle to overcome their early season slump.

American girls sail Tuesday for international games at Paris.

Harry Sinclair buys 20 yearlings for $100,000.

Hoover turns down big sum to row as professional.

St. Louis clubs in both major leagues continue toward pennant. As Williams poked out his 35th homer, the Browns won from Red Sox, 6 to 2, and increased lead over Yankees, who lost close tilt to White Sox, 3 to 2, to a game and a half. The Cardinals, finding Ruthier, Brooklyn ace, easy, marched on to victory over Dodgers and kept within half game of leaders when the Glants succumbed to dashing attack of Pirates and dropped third straight to them 15-5. The Cubs, still harboring pennant hopes, pounded an easy victory out of the Phillies, 13 to 5, staying off the tantalizing Reds, who, with Luque's combination of hitting and pitching, defeated Braves, 5 to 2. The White Sox victory over the Yankees kept them in third place ahead of Cobbs' men who won another decision from Philadelphia, 11 to 6. The Indians won from Washington, 14 to 5.

Canvas back, skippered by L. T. Ordway Jr., won second of a three-race series between American and Canadian yachts.

Jessie Elgers won News-Rec stake 2:18 race, feature race, of the Grand Circuit program.

Major John Griffith, commissioner of athletics of Western conference will assume duties and open office in Chicago.

Fight talk—Leonard reaches Chicago for training to meet Ever Hammer at Michigan city Saturday. Lew Tender returns $5,000 forfeit which he claimed from Benny Leonard when he said Leonard called off last summer's match—Dempsey, to reach Chicago Aug. 7 to get in condition to meet Bill Brennan on Labor day.

Jose Capablanca, world's champion chess master, defeated M. Euwe of Holland, in the first round of the International tournament, in London. Sioux City, Ia.—Wray Brown, Missouri Valley singles tennis champion, won first round in Interstate meet, defeating W. A. Towns of Sioux City.

Golfer Black Is Hurt in Wreck; Companion Dead

San Jose, Cal.—John Black, runner up in the national open golf championship at Glencoe, Ill., was playing on a course Tuesday for which he is 70 years and he was trying to avoid making it in less than 100 strokes. Lying on his back in a local hospital, the Scotch golf champion of California was making a fight for his life as a result of an automobile accident Monday night which caused concussion of the brain and fracture of several of his ribs. Herbert Hamilton Brown, millionaire insurance broker and sportsman of San Francisco, who was with Black, died as a result of his injuries. In the same hospital where the famous golfer now opposes his grimest bogie.

BRINGING UP FATHER

John C. Nichols' Horses Arrive for Races Here

With the addition of 22 head of more than 140 horses will be at the grounds.

TWO CHURCH LEAGUE GAMES ON TUESDAY

The Methodists meet the Christians and the Baptists clash with the St. Patrick's Tuesday night in games in the church baseball league. The Baptists will put up a hard battle to keep the Paduca from winning and try to stop their attempt to take first place honors.

The meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Tennis club, to be held in the rooms Tuesday night, will take up matters dealing with the tournament for girls to be held in September, and will be important.

BOSTON TRADES DUGAN TO YANKS

Thomas' horses arrive. Fourteen head of horses also pulled in Monday under the charge of Henry Thomas, son of the late Al. Thomas famous as a western horse trainer. Three of the animals in Mr. Thomas' outfit belong to Fred Strick, Oshkosh, well known in racing circles.

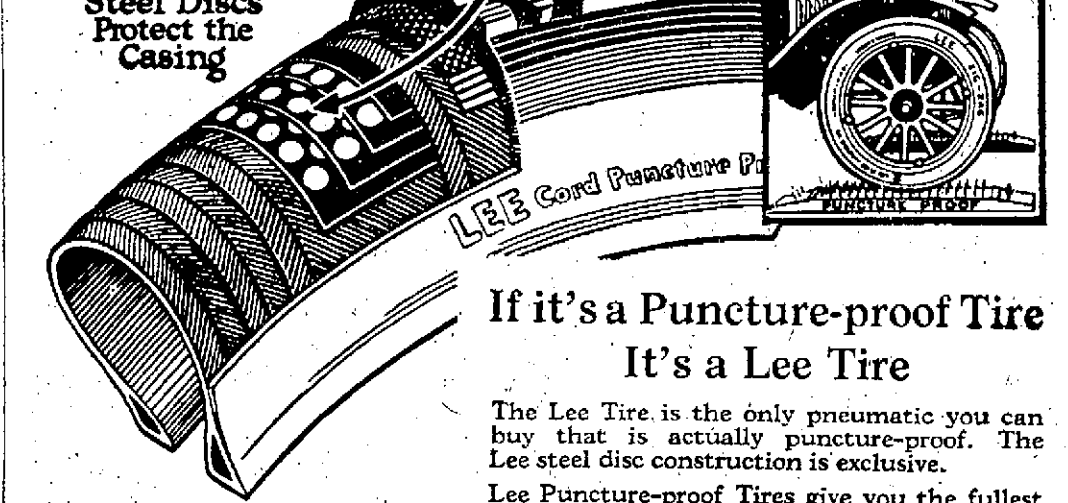

Five of Mr. Nichols' horses were seen on the local track last year: Top of the Morning, 2:12.4; Keith McKinnon, 2:13.4; Sir Walsingham, 2:13.4; Add Patch, 2:09.2 and Day Wood, 2:11.2. The remaining three are new in fast company. Calendar, Polo, a three-year old; and Somers, a three-year old.

Track in Good Shape. The Thomas outfit has been racing in the Illinois Valley circuit and in Michigan for the past two months and has gained an enviable record. Miss Marie, 2:10.4, out of six starts this season has taken six firsts. Lady May C, 2:18.4, has been in the money every race this year, while Dona Thompson, 2:17.4, has gained a reputation as a most dangerous contender in every run started.
